

The research will be carried out under the guidance of Dr Stephen Curran, of the School of Chemical and Physical Sciences. Ideally, the research would be computational, and could be carried out by distance (I am based in Palmerston North, but am easily able to travel to Wellington whenever necessary).